Subject: Monitoring Vital Rates – Action to be taken

The Civil Registration System (CRS) in India is governed by the Registration of Births and Deaths (RBD) Act 1969. The Registrar General, India (RGI) at central level coordinates and unifies the activities of registration throughout the country. The implementation of the statute is vested with the State Governments who have appointed Chief Registrar of births and deaths for this purpose. Births and deaths statistics are key variables in national policy formulation and play a critical role in population dynamics. These vital statistics are invaluable for planning, monitoring and evaluating various programmes related to primary health care, family planning, maternal and child health, education and public housing etc.

2. In accordance with the RBD Act, every Local Registrar sends a monthly report along with statistical part of the reporting forms to the District Registrar who compiles district-wise information and sends it to the Chief Registrar in accordance with the mechanism as may have been prescribed in each State/UT. Significantly a large number of States and UTs have now completely computerised the framework of birth and death registration in their respective States/UTs and MIS report gets generated from the system. There are few States where the birth and death registration is partially computerised, and few States where the level of computerisation is low and still follows a manual system of birth/death registration and reporting framework through forms.

3. It is now proposed to calculate some of the Vital Rates through data of CRS in all States and UTs both at the district and at the State level beginning the 2018 (1st January, 2018 to 31st December, 2018). These indicators are Infant Mortality Rate (IMR), Under-five Mortality Rate, Still Birth Rate and Sex ratio at Birth. The vital rates generated through CRS are exact and real data certified by registering authority and therefore, legally admissible. These vital rates will prevail over any other estimates that may be done for proxy purposes due to lack of data. The Chief Registrar of the respective State will ensure that month-wise data is compiled by the District Registrar for each district and a copy of the same is also sent to the Director of Census Operation for the purposes of record. The States and UTs who have achieved 100% computerisation will be able to generate this data from their existing architecture.

4. The States using the manual registration need to ensure that the registration data is sent timely and accurately from the registration unit to the office of the District Registrar and subsequently to the Chief Registrar to
